

The Eurodesk Malta Updates | Issue 2014

Dear friends!

Welcome to the 8th issue of our Eurodesk newsletter for 2014.

eurodesk

The past months have brought with them a number of challenges, and as an Agency we had the opportunity to meet a number of people to discuss the Erasmus + programme. The communications team met a number of beneficiaries interested in the new programme, and the key actions which fall under Erasmus +. The communications team is currently undertaking the necessary preparations for the official Launch of Erasmus + Malta which is going to take place on the 20th May 2014 at Magazino Hall, Valletta Waterfront. Beneficiaries interested in showcasing past projects implemented under LLP or YiA are invited to contact us. A limited number of spaces is currently available and is on a first come first served basis

My role as the Eurodesk officer is to keep you updated once again with various interesting information the Agency would like to offer. I have created a number of newsletters for Eurodesk now, and I would like to keep you abreast with news from the Island too.

Here Comes the Sun

Repetition is the key to understanding - which is why we are reminding you to protect yourself from excessive exposure to the ultraviolet rays (UV) of the sun. Exposure to UV radiation has increased over the years due to the depletion of the ozone layer, a naturally occurring gas that filters the sun's UV radiation. For some people, overexposure to UV rays can lead to skin cancer, cataracts and weakened immune systems. To protect against sun-related damage, follow these rules:

- Wear those shades. Sunglasses that provide 99-100% of UVA and UVB protection greatly reduce sun exposure that can lead to cataracts and other eye damage. Be sure to check the label when buying sunglasses to make sure they have proper UV protection.
- Lather on the sunscreen. Use a sunscreen with Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of at least 15. (But not just any sunscreen - check out these tips for finding a product that's safe for you and the environment.) Apply it liberally to all exposed areas of your body, particularly your ears, face, back and neck. Reapply every two hours when working, playing, or exercising outdoors; even waterproof sunscreen can come off when you towel off sweat or water.
- Listen to the weather reports. The UV Index, developed by the National Weather Service and the Environmental Protection Agency, provides a forecast of the expected risk of overexposure to the sun and indicates the degree of caution that you should take when working, playing or exercising outdoors. Weather predictions in print and broadcast media announce the UV Index daily.
- Stay clear of the midday sun as much as possible. The sun's UV rays are strongest between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. If you're spending the day at the beach, take refuge under a beach umbrella during those hours when the sun's rays are most intense.
- Dress up. Wear light, long-sleeved shirts and ankle-length pants if you're going to be out in the sun for long periods of time and you'd rather not wear sunscreen. A wide brimmed hat will shade your face, neck, ears and eyes

Best

Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs

About the programme

Malta Enterprise in collaboration with Stiftelsen Europa Institutet in Sweden are working together to facilitate exchanges for entrepreneurs between Malta, Sweden and all the other EU countries, within the framework of the Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs programme (www.erasmus-entrepreneurs.eu).

Partly funded by the European Commission, this exchange programme offers new entrepreneurs the possibility to work with an experienced entrepreneur in another EU country. The exchange programme is particularly beneficial for those individuals who are thinking of starting or have just set up their own business, who are given the opportunity to acquire relevant skills whilst working with experienced owners of small and medium enterprises across Europe. On their part, the experienced entrepreneurs participating in the programme and hosting the budding entrepreneurs would benefit from fresh perspectives on their own business whilst also getting the opportunity to cooperate with foreign partners or learn about new markets.

The programme acknowledges the fact that many founders of SMEs lack management, experience and other key skills required to succeed in today's highly competitive markets, as well as the fact that the vast majority of SMEs operate only in one country with limited possibilities for growth. Recognizing the importance of entrepreneurship for economic growth and job creation, it thus seeks to help new entrepreneurs acquire the relevant skills, whilst both new and experienced entrepreneurs would be expanding their European outreach.

Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs is a win-win collaboration, whereby both new and experienced entrepreneurs can discover new European markets or business partners, different ways of doing business, as well as opportunities for networking. The entrepreneurs may also decide to pursue their collaboration on a longer term by becoming business partners after the end of the exchange period. In this manner, the programme stimulates entrepreneurship, competitiveness, internationalisation and growth of start-ups and established SMEs in the EU. It also contributes to the transfer of know-how and building of management skills essential for the running of an SME.

Who can participate?

New entrepreneurs eligible to participate in the programme are those who firmly plan to start a business or otherwise have an existing business that is not older than three years, irrespective of their personal age or the sector in which they operate.

Host entrepreneurs can participate in the programme if he or she is the owner or manager of an SME or directly involved in entrepreneurship at SME board level; has experience running a company for several years; and is willing to act as a mentor by sharing knowledge and experience with a new entrepreneur from a different European state.

Your intermediate organisation: Malta Enterprise

As a local contact point in Malta, Malta Enterprise can guide interested entrepreneurs throughout the exchange programme: helping with the application process, helping with finding and establishing a successful relationship with a suitable entrepreneur, as well as answering any questions.

Malta Enterprise will also provide financial support to new entrepreneurs participating in the programme, covering (part of) the travel costs to and from the country of the stay and subsistence costs during the visit, which may last between one and six months. The grant is given as a monthly flat rate, depending on the country you will be travelling to (depending on their cost of living). The grant would not cover all the costs but would be covering a substantial part of your expenses.

EMPOWERING WOMEN IV

EMPOWERING WOMEN IV: Youth work for young women entrepreneurship

Seminar / Conference

26-31 October 2014 | Turkey

Youth Work can thus play a fundamental role in the empowerment of women, especially in terms of providing opportunities for self-assessment, development of skills and competences and by giving practical support in the attainment of self-realization.

After the great success of the previous editions in France – in 2010 with a very general approach on the role of women in society, in 2012 with a more specific analysis on women in the field of social economy, in 2013 with an emphasis on the promotion of young women employability through non-formal education – we are now moving to Turkey for dealing more specifically on the topic of entrepreneurship and the role youth work can have in its support and encouragement.

In this partnership building seminar we will focus on the concept of entrepreneurship, the competences needed both for the target groups and youth workers and above all we intend to set an inter-sectorial partnership among participants for future cooperation.

Application deadline: 31st July, 2014

Date of Selection: 1st September, 2014

Tool Fair IX

Seminar / Conference

3-7 November 2014 | Romania

The “Tool Fair IX” will be focusing on transferability and adaptation of tools in different sectors. The “Tool Fair IX” offers the opportunity to the people active in the fields of education, training and youth, as well as companies, public authorities, civil society organisations active in different socio-economic sectors to cooperate in order to share, transfer innovative educational tools to high quality teaching, training, learning and youth work.

Tool Fair IX aims:

- To further develop the quality of tools, according to the quality criteria of the overall tools strategy, with special focus on feedback of the tools as such and for their transferability.
- To give space to participants to share and experience educational tools developed and shape their own educational and experiential pathways, by facilitating and attending workshops.
- To engage participants in the further development of educational tools
- To contribute through the “Tool Fair” to the overall SALTO strategy on tools quality development
- To inspire participants to apply learning outcomes of the “Tool Fair” to their own reality and explore the potentials to use creativity to foster cross-sectorial approaches.

Why should you take part in the “Tool Fair”?

Participating in the “Tool Fair IX” will offer the chance to shape your own educational and experiential pathway, to run a workshop so as to share your tools with other colleagues from an international level as well as to participate in workshops run by others.

However, beyond experiencing a wide variety of tools, the “Tool Fair” aims to provide a space to reflect on tools, give and receive feedback and pave the way for their transferability and further development.

This way, the “Tool Fair IX” tends to contribute not only to the learning outcomes of each individual participant but also to the quality of educational tools and learning process on a European level, complementing SALTO-YOUTH Toolbox for Training and Youth Work (<http://www.salto-youth.net/tools/toolbox>) and various publications on educational tools, in coherence with the European Training Strategy.

Study on Policy Measures to improve the Attractiveness of the Teaching Profession in Europe

The study focuses on teachers in primary and secondary education

(ISCED 1, 2 and 3) in the 28 EU Member States plus Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Turkey. It is based upon a survey of more than 80,000 student teachers, teachers and school leaders, interviews with national decision-makers, and a review of the research in the field.

- Key findings:
 - - - In most European countries, the teaching profession has lost much of its attraction for the best candidates because of a decline in prestige, poorer working conditions and relatively low salaries.
 - - - Few countries have specific, long-term strategies to make the profession more attractive to the best candidates, or even to evaluate the effectiveness of their current policies
 - - - In many countries, the teacher shortage is addressed by longer working hours for teachers, higher pupil-teacher ratios or an increase in the retirement age.

Feel free to contact us for further information!

- At a time when several countries are faced with shortages of qualified teachers, a new study undertaken by the European Commission looks at what Member States could do to attract the best people into the profession.
- - The study looks in detail at what makes the teaching profession attractive (or not), maps the different policy measures that countries use (or could use) to attract high-quality recruits, to make careers more attractive, and to enhance the social status and prestige of teaching, and assesses their effectiveness. It also makes recommendations for improvements.
